

GET THE LOOK AT LUSTRE

The great thing about Lustre is that everything you see is so strikingly different. Gorgeous, luxurious throws, knitted cushions and pretty glass pieces all feature this year.

To show you how items from Lustre can work at home, we have created some really stunning looks using items from a selection of Lustre makers.

Take Craig Fellows and his cute and quirky poultry-inspired pieces. The farmyard has never been so chic, thanks to Craig and his stunning bags of monochrome cockerels and beautiful egg designs.

Throws, cushions and scarves from Akiko come in lovely zig-zag patterns and a variety of warm colours to adorn your home for a really cosy feel this winter.

From Stuart Ackroyd comes a beautiful range of bright glass bottles, perfect for presents - or for decorating shelves and side tables, along with the crisp, illustrated fabrics of Teresa Green.

You can be sure that lighting by Michael Radford is like nothing you've seen before. Michael makes a range of sustainable lighting suitable for indoors and out. His birch floor lamps, table lamps and pendant lampshades look simply stunning when they are turned on - and also when they are off!

We love the Thumbykins wall piece by Louise Evans who makes textiles and jewellery involving found items and vintage clothing. Her new collection features shoe pieces and wall pieces with detachable jewellery.

We have combined the pretty ceramics by Kate McBride, the jewellery of Amanda Coleman and vases and plates by Andrew Tanner to show how well these objects can look together - and how the "Lustre look" can so easily be achieved at home.

Opposite page:
Curved glass bottles by Stuart Ackroyd, from £50
Lighting by Michael Radford - prices vary depending on size
Colourful cushions by Akiko from £80; throws from £350; scarves from £70
Triangle table by Matthew Dabbs - prototype for commercial production

This page top left to right:
Monochrome cockerel bag by Craig Fellows. Prices start from £50
Colourful knitted zig-zag cushions, throws and scarves from Akiko. Prices as above.
Thumbykins wall piece by Louise Evans £800

This page bottom:
Girl's raspberry cotton dress by Teresa Green, £34
Pink confection by Kate McBride from £50 - £120; bugs and roses tea set from £50 - £100.
Pretty cut-out butterfly plate by Andrew Tanner, £58. Vases by Andrew Tanner, from £40
Akiko scarf, as above.
Ravens in Treetops necklace by Amanda Coleman, £110, earrings from £50